Silver Anniversary

THE MIRROR congratulates and extends the appreciation and gratitude of the students and alumni to these members of the faculty and alumni who have served the School loyally for twenty-five years.

KARL F. GREMPER, D.D.S., F.A.C.D.

Instructor in Orthodontics

Born April 13, 1895, in Baltimore, Maryland. Completed two years of premedical training at Mount Vernon Collegiate Institute prior to World War I. Graduated from the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1924. Dr. Grempler has been a member of the faculty of his Alma Mater ever since his graduation. He formerly served as Associate Professor of Operative Dentistry. He holds memberships in Psi Omega, Omicron Kappa Upsilon, Gorgas Odontological Society, Baltimore City Dental Society, Maryland State Dental Association, and American Dental Association. Dr. Grempler now limits his private practice to the specialty of Orthodontics.

GUY P. THOMPSON, A.B., M.A.

Associate Professor of Anatomy

Born August 27, 1895, in Berkeley Springs, West Virginia. Received his bachelor's degree from the University of West Virginia in 1923; and six years later, his master's degree from the same institution. He has done graduate work at Johns Hopkins and the University of Maryland. Mr. Thompson began his teaching career in 1923 at the Florida State College for Women. From 1924 until 1925 he taught at the Red Stone Township High School in Pennsylvania. In 1925, he came to the University of Maryland, where he became Assistant Professor of Zoology. In 1942, Mr. Thompson was assigned to the Department of Gross Anatomy in the School of Dentistry. His fraternity affiliations are Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Chi, Sigma Xi, and Phi Beta Kappa. In addition, Mr. Thompson holds membership in the Maryland Biological Society and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is the author of Zoology Lab Studies (Mosby).

E. GASTON VANDEN BOSCHE, A.B., M.S., Ph.D.

Professor of Biochemistry

Born September 17, 1901, in Mont-sur-Marchienne, Belgium. Graduated from Lebanon Valley College in 1922, and received his master's degree from the University of Maryland two years later. He did additional graduate work at Columbia University. In 1927 he was awarded his doctorate by the University of Maryland. In 1922 and 1923 he served as head of the science department at Ambridge High School in Pennsylvania. Subsequent teaching assignments carried Dr. Vanden Bosche to College Park, where he was a fellow and later instructor in chemistry. In 1925 he joined the faculty of the Dental School. He holds membership in Phi Kappa Phi and Alpha Chi Sigma. His honor society affiliation is Sigma Xi. In 1927, Dr. Vanden Bosche did work in electrochemistry in collaboration with the Bureau of Standards.

Saint Apollonia

Today, in our complacency in things scientific, and in our flippancy towards things spiritual, we not infrequently pass off divine assistance and invocation through the patronage of the saints as medieval, superstitious, magical and unscientific. In the days of Faith and the Spirit such was not the case! Every guild, trade and profession placed itself under the protection of a heavenly patron—one who would obtain divine help in time of difficulty—for every man knew that, in spite of the development of his knowledge and the progress that he made in science, there was a point beyond which his skill could not penetrate, a point at which the powers of man must be supplemented by the powers of God. The art and science of dentistry was no exception to this practice, for it, too, placed itself under the heavenly patronage of one of God's saints, Apollonia of Alexandria, who offered her life in sacrifice in 248 A. D. rather than abandon her belief in the One, True God, and Jesus Christ Whom He had sent.

During the celebration festivities of the millenary of the Roman Empire, in the reign of Decius, a public panic was engineered by a prophet who foretold the advent of a dire calamity, which was to be the result of the machinations of the Christian sect who worshipped a God other than the Roman deities. Persecution broke loose, and Apollonia was among those swept away in the flood of fanatical passion and prejudice, for she was a deaconess in the service of the Christian Church. She was brought to trial and ordered to pay homage and offer adoration to the pagan idols which she had long ago abjured. She spurned this royal edict with contempt, so the imperial executors crushed her jaws and beat out her teeth. Then, lighting a pyre, they threatened to burn her alive unless she rejected her God for the gods of Caesar. Upon Apollonia's defiance, they seized her to carry out their threat; but there burned within the saint an intense flame of the Spirit of God, inspiring her with a horror of the apostasy that was proposed to her, and she consequently wrested herself from their hold to leap upon the pyre.

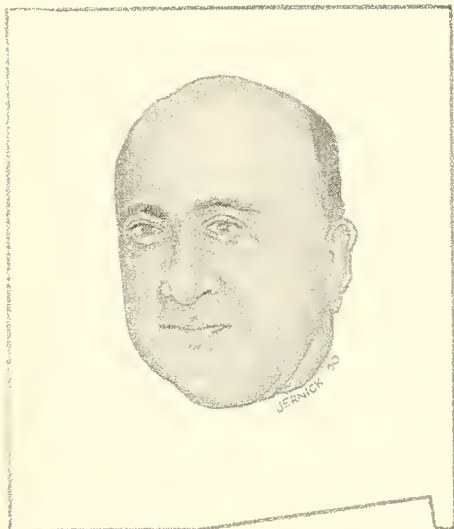

The story of Apollonia's heroism spread quickly, and its import prevailed through the years. She was canonized a saint, and her feast day is still celebrated by the Church on the ninth of February. In her, both those who suffered from dental disease and those who had dedicated themselves to the dental profession found a heavenly patron, one to whom they could turn for divine intercession. Her sufferings and sacrifice inspired the faithful with courage, devotion, and veneration. It was an inspiration that sprang not from belief in magic or superstition, but from a sincere and steadfast belief that, in spite of the advance in knowledge and the development of scientific methods, God's assistance also is occasionally needed—both by the sick and the healer.

Reverence of saintly persons is not practiced by all people, but respect for individual integrity and steadfastness to principle is characteristic of all mankind. Perhaps in this day it is superfluous to call upon heavenly aid for dental ills, but to us whose exalted task it is to preserve and restore the health of mankind, Saint Apollonia can still offer inspiration and assistance, for regardless of the progress in our art and science, we are not autonomous.

Class History

Every graduating class considers itself unique. We are different. We are unique.

In 1945, the Second Great War ended. In 1946, we entered the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery as Freshmen. Freshmen, perhaps, in the sense that we were starting another new venture. Freshmen, perhaps, in the sense that a new and strange period of life faced us; but certainly not typical prewar Freshmen proceeding a step further in a leisurely education.

The majority of us were veterans: ex-privates and ex-majors; ex-pilots and ex-clerks; ex-sailors, soldiers, and marines. Some of us had "sweated out" the war under combat conditions; some of us had fought with typewriters. But all of us—except for lounge-bred, coffee-stimulated reminiscences (in which each man won the war single-handed)—were forced to forget our war experiences in the press of dental school activities.

The rest of us were youngsters—real youngsters—who had carried tremendous, continuous study loads without surcease during the tense, accelerated war years. We, too, forgot age differences and service differences in the constant struggle to maintain the pace.

One-hundred-and-eight strong we started, knowing full well that many would retire from the field. And many did—men who were older and had too great a lapse in the educational chain; men who felt that the profession did not offer enough; men who could not scrape together the necessary finances to continue. But ninety-one of us reached our senior year—ninety-one men who, we think, have fulfilled the prediction made of them in 1946: that they would constitute one of the finest classes to be graduated from BCDS in many years.

On the whole, we have tried hard. There have been the expected tensions and frustrations attendant upon acquiring a professional degree. We have felt put-upon and mistreated (some few times we were), and we've griped and groaned and complained bitterly, but we have plugged on. Because of the constant pressure of day-to-day work, we seized every opportunity to revert to our natural selves. Class comedians lessened the dignity of serious lecturers, and we trooped to every social event with freshness of spirit (spirit—very good word). In the early phases of our studies, we treated "hard luck stories" with tender sympathy, but eventually complaints were met with the mocking refrain of "Hearts and Flowers."

Today, in the light of present success, past worries have become rather trivial. We tend to remember and treasure only the lighter moments. We have acquired certain ideals about dentistry which we hope to take with us into practice. We know that our training will compare to advantage with that of almost any other school in the country. For the ideals and training we are grateful. We hope the profession gains by our entrance.

DAVID TROUP and STUART RATNER.

Dr. Towill was graduated from BCDS in 1925. Five years later he returned to the school as instructor in Operative Dentistry. He left in 1939, but was back again in 1949, this time as Associate Professor of Operative Dentistry. The MIRROR congratulates him upon his election as Honorary President of the Class of 1950.

Class History

With their voices ringing clearly like bell-crown molars, the members of the Junior class cast off their tired old Maryland Industries smocks in favor of freshly starched dental jackets. With right hand on classmate's shoulder, the men of the Class of '51 bowed their heads and marched onto the clinic floor,—each man as poignantly perfumed, but also as green, as the two-tone walls in Willy's winsome wiper-room. In spite of furtive glances and disarming smiles on the part of this group of self-made men, it took no G. V. Black to realize that they were as befuddled and confused as a physiology instructor backing off from an unlabeled slide.

Transformations were taking place within our group. Alcott discovered who Zequeira was; everyone agreed it was surprising to note the number of good fellows in the other section; 'Lis blossomed out with a new hairdo; Grabner continued to lose small fortunes in one way or another. A few married men were still trying to get their wives better-paying jobs, but most of the married circle had given up and felt it high time to crash the dirty diaper dilemma. The few single men remaining had eggs in their beer and let it go at that.

Thus, the Junior, "meddler in all technics and master of none," has come a long way. The past three years have been enjoyable and fruitful, but interest is now focused on the Senior year ahead. Who knows? This may be the year when: they no longer confuse Guido and Mauro; Pinto beats Baker; Elledge throws Big Syd; Legband eases off on Hawley; McDougal stops worrying; and Dearman and Robinson decide who is going to be first in the class.

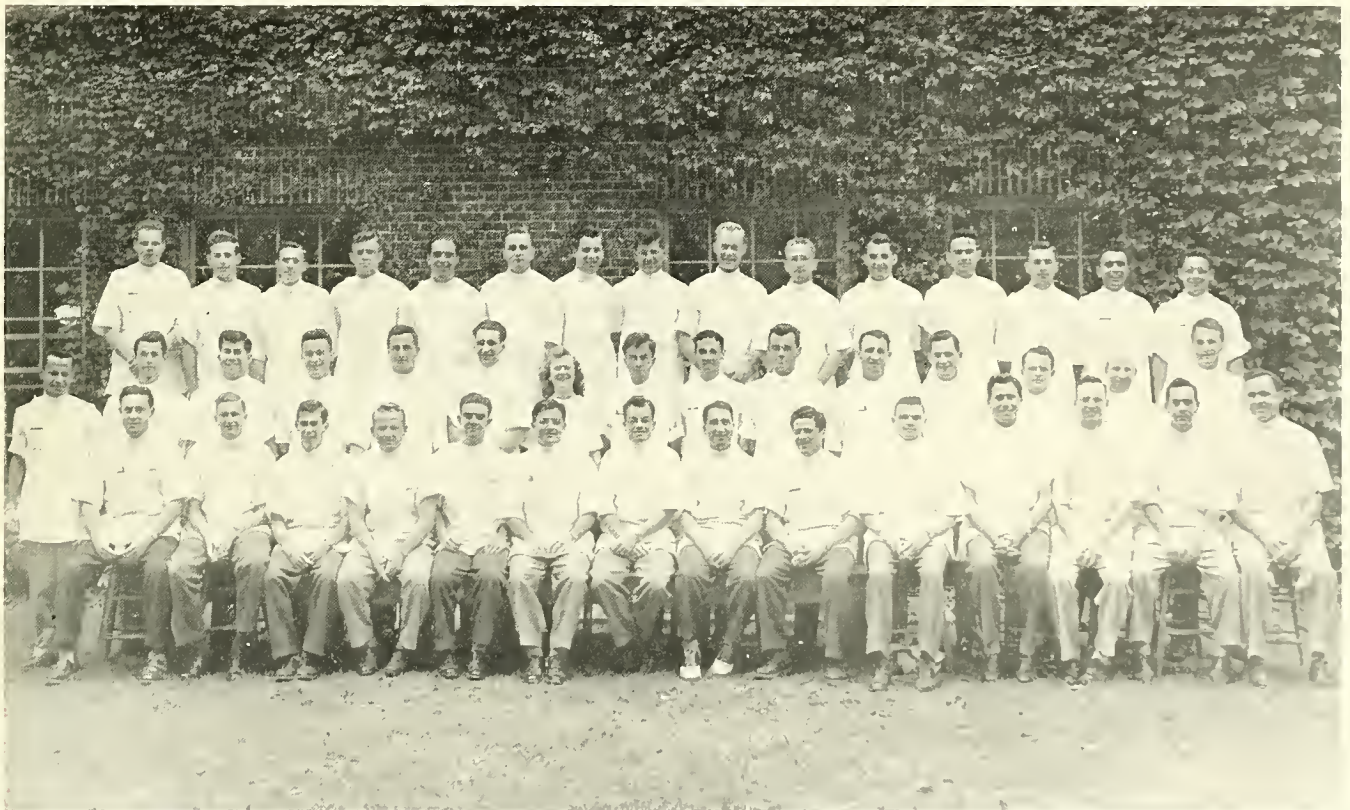

Until the day when we shall be guided by faith in ourselves—acquired only from four years of assiduous application to our daily tasks—the class of '51 prays for a bestowal of academic strength, adaptive manipulation, and professional dignity.

Bring on that Senior year!

Class History

In the brick-walled lair of the freshman classrooms lived a hydra. The hydra was a monster of three heads (biochemistry, anatomy, and histology) of which two were mortal and the third invulnerable. However, the class of '52 did conquer this monster in battle, and then moved on to the next of the series of appointed tasks.

In the second year of school we found some phases of life remaining fairly static, while others changed for the better. Advice from the seniors apparently never changes throughout the years: quote, You will find next year easier; your work will taper off after Christmas, unquote. All students wondered "wha' hopen" to all the instruments we bought last year. Oft-heard question in the labs was "Has anyone seen my ——?" One student even lost his white blood cells. The favorite mystery book of the year was The Case of the Contaminated Media or B. Subtilis on the Loose by Dr. Donald Shay. Due to an uncompromising Friday afternoon schedule, Chick's "seminars" were discontinued.

Underneath the cloak of humor, which our class has never lacked, there is an increasing feeling that we are more of an integral part of the profession we have chosen. We have become more conscious of the responsibilities of the dental profession. With this consciousness come a heightened interest in our work and an increased determination to maintain the high standards of our profession. There exists an undercurrent of excitement in anticipation of our debut on the clinic floor.

With each passing year the pleasant relationships of student life draw nearer to an end, but our goal of becoming members of an honored profession looms closer to reality.

Class History

During the first week of September, 1949, one hundred and ten new potential "molar saviors" converged on Baltimore from seventeen states, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Panama, and the Netherland West Indies, to complete registration. They were given a rousing introduction to the dental curriculum via "gas" from upperclassmen and staggering assignments from professors.

Many of our classmates are married, and some are fathers. Veterans, who just a few years ago were wearing navy blues, khaki, or greens, donned lab gowns and exchanged their weapons of war for a Boley gauge and a penknife.

Lectures and labs came with devastating regularity. Some of our time was spent in carving teeth (Dr. Miller has other names for them) and manipulating dental materials; the remainder, in unraveling the amazing mysteries of anatomy, biochemistry, and histology.

True, our goals are high and appear, at least at the moment, to be unattainable; but with perseverance, luck, and an unflinching faith we shall see the golden sun set on the horizon of our ambitions and realize the necessity for establishing new and more encompassing goals in the service of mankind.

The Gorgas Odontological Society is the honorary student dental organization of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. It was the first undergraduate scholarship society among the nation's dental schools. It is named after the eminent dentist and dental educator, Dr. Ferdinand James Samuel Gorgas.

Dr. Gorgas was graduated from the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1855, and later joined its faculty as Demonstrator of Mechanical Dentistry. In 1865 he became Dean of his alma mater. Dr. Gorgas contributed prolifically to dental literature. He wrote the first textbook on dental medicine to appear in the United States, edited The American Journal of Dental Science, and revised many of Chapin A. Harris's textbooks. In 1882, when the University of Maryland established a Dental Department, he was appointed Dean and Professor of Prosthetic Dentistry, Dental Medicine, and Therapeutics.

The aims of the society are best expressed in the words of the code of the Society: "The objects of the Gorgas Odontological Society of the University of Maryland shall be to create an active interest in questions pertaining to the dental profession, to develop the student's power of thought, and to contribute to his development by presenting opportunities for participation in the discussion of professional topics; to promote the interest of the profession at large by creating in the student's mind a feeling of need for associations, and to establish higher ideals of service for his life's work."

At the present time, membership is by invitation to not more than thirty per cent of the Junior Class who attain the Society's scholastic requirements. Full membership is not awarded until the senior year.

Business meetings are held on the first Monday of each month. These are followed by open program meetings at which prominent men, in and out of the profession, present informal talks. Moreover, motion pictures dealing with technical procedures in dentistry are frequently shown.

Two annual social affairs are held: a Christmas party and a spring formal dinner dance. At the latter, the Society awards a key to the new members, and an engraved certificate to those about to be graduated.

The Student Activities Council is the faculty-student organization which coordinates the activities of the student body. The Council directs the expenditure of the Student Activities Fund, the purpose of which is to sponsor the annual dances and to aid in the financing of the school publications. This organization also serves as a medium whereby suggestions by the student body can be brought to the attention of the faculty. To represent the students, a member of each class is appointed for two consecutive years.

The Interfraternity Council coordinates the fraternity activities. The membership consists of two delegates from each fraternity, and the chairmanship is rotated among the fraternities.

The present council was organized in 1944 to supervise the conduct of the fraternities especially in regard to rushing and pledging of new students. The council is empowered to take specific action in cases of violation of its regulations.

The council sponsors several sports activities and an annual interfraternity dance.

R. O. T. C.

LIEUTENANT COLONEL FREDERICK H. RICHARDSON, JR., Dental Corps
Professor of Military Science and Tactics

MASTER SERGEANT LEO HIRSCH, U. S. Army
Instructor

Under the command of Lieutenant Colonel Frederick H. Richardson, Jr., D. C., a graduate of the Kansas City-Western Dental School, a dental R. O. T. C. was activated at the start of the 1948-49 academic session at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery as a unit of the 7010th ASU-ROTC, University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland.

Dedicated to the mission of producing junior officers who have the attributes essential to their progressive development as dental officers of the Army of the United States, Colonel Richardson instituted an academic training course of an exceptional character. Assisted by Master Sergeant Leo Hirsch (a graduate of Long Island University), the Colonel, professor of military science and tactics, indoctrinated his men in such fields as Military Preventive Medicine, Dental Equipment and Supplies, Army Regulations, Military Dental Research, Military Psychiatry, and Military Oral Surgery.

Two contingents of the unit, totaling forty-four men, attended summer encampment for a period of six weeks at the Walter Reed and Valley Forge General Hospitals, respectively.

During the past year there were two classes of Dental R.O.T.C.: the advanced group, totaling forty-five men (six seniors, twenty-four juniors, and fifteen sophomores), and the basic group, totaling seventy-two men (fifteen juniors, twenty-one sophomores, and thirty-six freshmen). The present senior class of the B.C.D.S. is the first in the history of the school to boast of members who have completed the R.O.T.C. program.

ONWARD DENTISTRY!

The Airdent unit contains a source of carbon dioxide which, under pressure, goes through a mixing chamber in which the abrasive (aluminum oxide) is introduced into the gaseous stream. The aluminum oxide particles range from 10 to 50 microns in size, with most of them being about 30 microns.

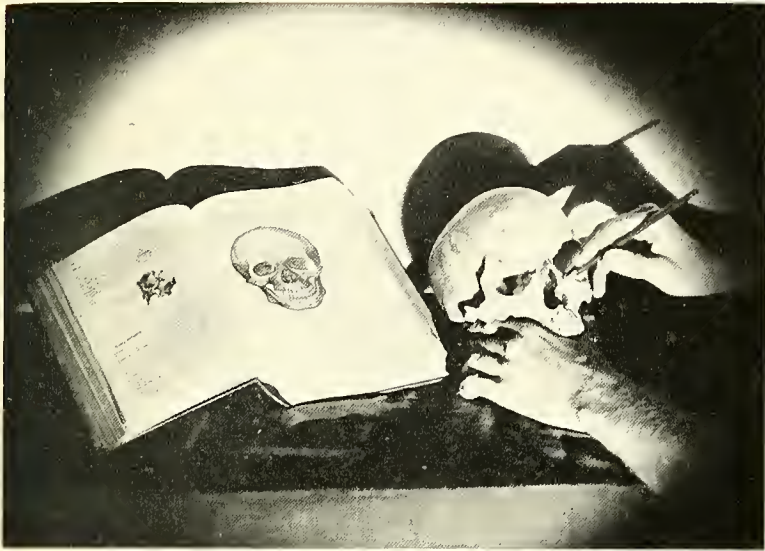

The unit also contains a motor-blower assembly which creates the suction necessary to collect the abrasive and tooth debris from the field of operation. There is also a handpiece connected to the unit by a small flexible tube. The handpiece is of a size and weight which feels comfortable in the hand, and to it is attached a contra-angle and nozzle. The nozzle is made of a tungsten carbide and has a circular opening 0.018 of an inch in diameter. Whenever the foot switch is pressed, the carbon dioxide propels the aluminum oxide through the nozzle opening at a velocity of more than 1,000 feet per second.

There is a suction hood through which approximately 180 cubic feet of air are drawn per minute, and this hood is held near the corner of the patient's mouth throughout the preparation of the cavity.

VALLEY OF HUMILIATION

VALLEY OF SHADOW

DOUBTFUL CASTLE

CITY OF ALL DELIGHT

THE $64 QUESTION — —

"Are There Requirements in Operative Dentistry?"

BLOOM—I don't know. Ask Dr. Randolph.

BULMASH—Here?

BUSHEY—Operative requirements?

CALLAHAN—This year?

CARROCCIA—(Editor's Note—All we got was a smile.)

CLAGGETT—All you need are 60 Class III foils.

COOK—I'll have to give it some thought.

COURTNEY—There are no requirements unless you fail to meet them.

CUNNINGHAM—Are you kidding?

DAVENPORT—Huh?

DIAZ-GONZALEZ—Well, I heard that Randolph said—

DOCTOR—Huh vot's dot? I don't dink zo, but always it depends on the average.

DUROCHER—Your guess is as good as mine.

EAKES—Yes! etc., etc., etc.

EDWARDS—75 per cent of the class average.

EPSTEIN—Do as much as you can.

FISHER—How the heck do I know? I hope not.

FOSSAS—No comments until June 10.

FRONTERA—Let's see—what shall I answer?

GABRIELE—Are you kidding?

GALE—You're never out in operative until you graduate.

GOLDMAN—One hundred more than you can possibly do.

HAHN—There are none written; it's all unwritten.

HANNAH—Oh, I don't think so; just so long as you do so much gold work.

HARRISON—You're required to do good work and just a few restorations.

HART—Hah, hah.

HESS—There are no requirements, but you'd better have them!

HORAN—Yeah, of course.

HYRE—S-s-s-s-s.

HYSON—Where?

JARRELL—No—except you do better than you did last year.

JERNICK—This is the wrong time to ask me that question!

JONES—I'd say yes.

KERNAN—I don't know what the heck you're talking about.

KIRVIN—Are there operative requirements? Here, at school?!!

KLINE—I believe there are.

LORTZ—For what?

LOWMAN—Class average, but that'll be about 120 to 130.

LYNCH—Not that I know of.

MCCAULEY—I don't think so.

MCCOY—Why do you ask me?

McELROY—Supposedly not.
 MANNIX—Why do you ask that stupid question?
 MARTIN—I haven't figured one out for that yet.
 MATTHEWS—What's the joke?
 MAYER—Are you kidding?
 MITCHELL—You can't fight city hall.
 MORRIS—A groovy guy like me doesn't worry.
 MUMA—They shall have foils.
 NOEL—Get off my back!
 NORDECK—In what?
 NOSAL—I don't know what you mean; what are you looking for?
 NOYA—Why sure. Cl. III gutta perchas. Don't quote me.
 ORRACA—Huh—Are there? No.
 PAUL—Hask me later.
 PHIFER—Why worry. I got it made.
 PRATAP—All I do is keep busy.
 RADER—What ya mean? Are you a comedian or something?
 RATNER—What's the matter? Don't you go to this school?
 RODRIGUEZ—I don't give a darn.
 ROHR—How should I know?
 ROQUE—I can't think of a good answer.
 ROSSO—I don't know, and I don't care.
 RYMER—Yeh, as many as the eagers make it.
 SAGAWA—Let's take an average of 1945.
 SARRATT—Nuts!—How about a cigarette?
 SAVAGE—I believe in minimum requirements.
 SCHWATKA—How long have you been here?
 SCHWING—What was the question?
 SCOTTI—All you need is quantity and quality.
 SHAPIRO—Huh?
 SHEPPE—No—just 300 restorations—100 foils.
 SHULTZ—Why? How many do you have?
 SILVERMAN—It depends on Randolph.
 STINE—Per se, no.
 STRANG—I hope not.
 TEYKER—Well, I talked to Randolph about it,—
 TORRES, J. R.—I don't know.
 TORRES, ROBERTO—Are you asking me?
 TROUP—What?
 VENTURA—You're in competition with yourself.
 WAINWRIGHT—What for? Right now?
 WELLS—Huh? Operative requirements! Why?
 WHEELER—No—Yea—The heck there aren't!
 WHISNANT—You got me.
 WHITFORD—Not now. I'm too busy.
 WHITNEY—Down here? I never heard of any.
 WILLIAMS—I wish I knew.
 YOHO—What?—That's my statement.
 YOUNG—What's that?

Phone Calls

"I'm going to an outside dentist. I was told you boys just practice."

One o'clock patient calls at three and exclaims: "I can't keep my appointment today."

"My hemorrhoids are bothering me; do you mind if I don't come in?"

"I won't be in today; a horse kicked me yesterday."

"Dr. Sheppe, I've worn my teeth for a month now, but my eyes still twitch."

"Why do you keep my boy in the clinic so long?"

"How much does it cost for a filling?"

"You're not open nights?!"

"My sister can't come in today; she has an exam in South America."

"D— W— very sorry to have to cancel Friday a. m. appointment."

"How much do you charge for falsies?"

"I'm not coming in anymore; you've got me bur happy."

"Do I need an appointment for my first visit?"

"Who do I see?"

"What will it cost?"

As "Ted" Would Say—

"Of course you realize I marked your preparation the first time I saw it."

"When are you going to work in my section?"

"Fair."

"You've extended just a bit too far distally; let's make an MOD out of it."

"Where's your retention?"

"Anesthesia?"

"The margins are good; the polish is nice; but your cuspal inclinations just don't quite satisfy me."

"That's a nice preparation. Just cleave off that unsupported enamel rod on the buccal and call me back."

"I'd like to see the axial built up a bit, and while you're at it just t-e-a-s-e a shade of cement over the pulpal also."

"That's fine. Now deepen your axial wall the least bit—oh, about a tenth of a millimeter."

"Well, you've flattened your axial, but it isn't very shiny, and in your labial retention your proportion of enamel to dentin in your labial wall isn't exactly what I'd like; and about your axio-buccal gingival point angle—"

"Just take down that margin. It's the difference between an 80 and a 90 restoration."

"We can do it."

A Word of Gratitude . . .

For whatever accomplishment this MIRROR has achieved credit is due to several persons. Appreciation to Mr. Foley has already been expressed through the dedication of this volume. By the very nature of the positions, the work was not equally proportioned, but each and every one of the staff was notably cooperative: my sincere thanks to Clem Hahn, Bob Jernick, John Clemson, Dave Troup, Stu Ratner, Henry Teyker, Bob Hess, Allie Phifer, Lino Rodriguez, Mel Bulmash, Bill Cunningham, John Mayer, Ernie Crowley, Deac Reed, and Paul McFarland.

I should like to thank Doctors Biddix and McCarthy for their acting as faculty advisors.

To my dear wife, I offer my gratitude for her secretarial work, her approvals, and, most of all, for her patience as an editor's wife.

I sincerely thank Miss Bette Muhl for her helping with the arduous task of typing; Mr. Love, the engraver, Mr. Hicks, the printer, and Mr. Sams, the cover manufacturer, for their professional aid; Miss Ezekiel for the facilities of her department; the Alpha Omega Fraternity for the use of its house; those many students for their appropriate suggestions; and the remainder of the faculty and the student body for their cooperation in making the publication of this book possible.

This page closes the history of the Class of 1950 at B. C. D. S. This MIRROR is a record of the physical make-up of the life in dental school. Unfortunately, it has been beyond its scope to perpetuate in writing the emotional, the intangible, "that something" which has been the exacting aspect of the past four years. Most of us were fortunate enough not to be alone in living this phase of dental school life.

Personal acknowledgments for producing this yearbook have been rendered. I should like to go beyond this by speaking in behalf of my espoused classmates. For them, and for myself, I extend a heartfelt expression of gratitude to those dauntless young women who have stood by us, encouraged us, helped us—our devoted wives.

MASTER UNIT D-2 AND MOTOR CHAIR

The most used operating accessories . . . the warm air syringe, air cut-off, and temperature controlled sprays . . . are on the instrument table where they are at your fingertips no matter where you are standing at the chair. So also are the Bunsen burner, X-ray illuminator, water tumbler, assistant call button, connection for the pulp tester . . . all handy without reaching or stretching.

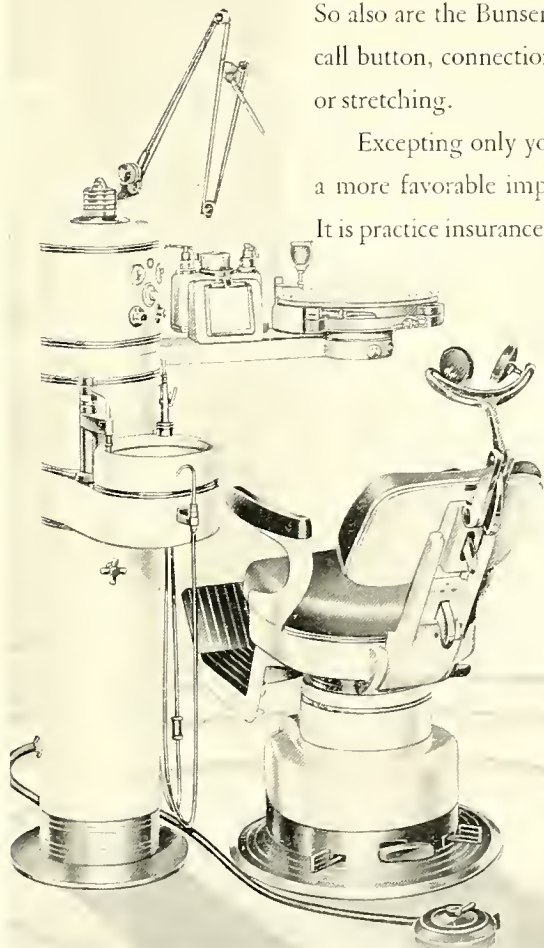

Excepting only your personality and professional skill, nothing makes a more favorable impression upon patients than appropriate equipment. It is practice insurance.

The S. S. White Master Unit D-2 and Motor Chair look modern, are modern. They are the most beautiful, the most practical, the most inspiring and impressive equipment ever built for the dental operating room.

Let us help you plan your office; or if you have ideas, let us put them on the drawing board . . . without charge.

Single and multiple offices; urban, suburban, bungalow; and for general and specialized practices . . . for years we have supplied distinctive plans for all. Ask any distributor of S. S. White Equipment or write direct.

Q. How Can I Build My Practice QUICKLY?

A. With Prestige-Building RITTER Equipment.

The Choice of Leading Dentists

You must look and act successful to become successful—quickly. And this is what a modern Ritter equipped office does. It immediately establishes you as a dental leader in the eyes of the only people who will put you in the higher income bracket—your patients.

The Ritter Company not only helps you to dental leadership with the world's finest equipment; Ritter offers you these valuable practice-building services—

1. The complete services of the Ritter Office Planning Department. We'll plan every detail of your layout including decorations, without cost.
2. The Ritter Statistical Service. We'll furnish data about any community in which you wish to practice.
3. Practice-Building Studies that tell you how you can make more money with proven facts, not theory.
4. The Ritter Deferred Investment Plan that allows you to start with the finest equipment—and pay out of earnings. Ask your Ritter Dealer.

Success starts with planning—now. We're ready to help. Please call on us.

Mr. John McDonnell, College Representative

Baltimore, Maryland

Dear Johnny,

Please express our sincerest congratulations to all the seniors just graduated and our thanks to the student body for their valuable support during the past year.

Don't fail to tell the graduates of the services that we are rendering to men faced with building a secure dental practice. Mention the fact that we know of locations in all the five states that we service and emphasize that we have our fingers on the pulse of the economic conditions of these territories. Above all, remind them of our PERSONALIZED OFFICE PLANNING DEPARTMENT, pointing out that planning is as important to the professional man as the compass is to the captain of a ship.

Remember, Johnny, it isn't the nuts and bolts that go into dental equipment that make the difference. The big difference lies in service that can't be bought or done without. We are waiting to serve your friends.

With best personal regards to all the faculty and staff.

Yours very truly,
